OVERVIEW

This publication provides a compilation of statistical information covering degrees conferred in Pennsylvania colleges and universities. It contains information on a variety of aspects of graduates including the number of degrees conferred by institutional category, sex, race and level of program.

The source of this data is an annual survey of Pennsylvania colleges and universities. Estimated data was provided for one nonresponding institution. National data was drawn from the results of surveys conducted by the U.S. Department of Education, National Center for Education Statistics.

In addition to the 145 colleges and universities, there were 95 private licensed schools in Pennsylvania authorized to grant specialized associate degrees in business or technology (ASB and AST degrees) in 1994-95. These schools conferred 8,087 specialized associate degrees which, when added to the number of degrees from colleges and universities, would bring the total number of postsecondary degrees conferred to 112,658.

Females represented 54.7% of the graduates in 1994-95, an increase of a 0.2 percentage point over 1993-94 and 3.9 percentage points over 1985-86. The institutional categories where females received more than 50% of the degrees conferred were: private two-year colleges (71.1%); community colleges (64.9%); state universities (59.9%); and private colleges and universities (56.4%).

Over the last 10 years, growth in the proportion of female graduates ranged from 3.3 percentage points at state universities and private state-aided institutions to 5.5 percentage points at community colleges. However, the percentage of females earning degrees at private two-year colleges dropped 2.8 percentage points.

Act 211 of 1990 authorized the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology to grant associate degrees. In 1990-91, 1.5% of the graduates at that school were female, compared to 10.5% in 1994-95.

...associate degrees increased 6.5% at two-year institutions and 27.4% at four-year institutions since 1985-86...

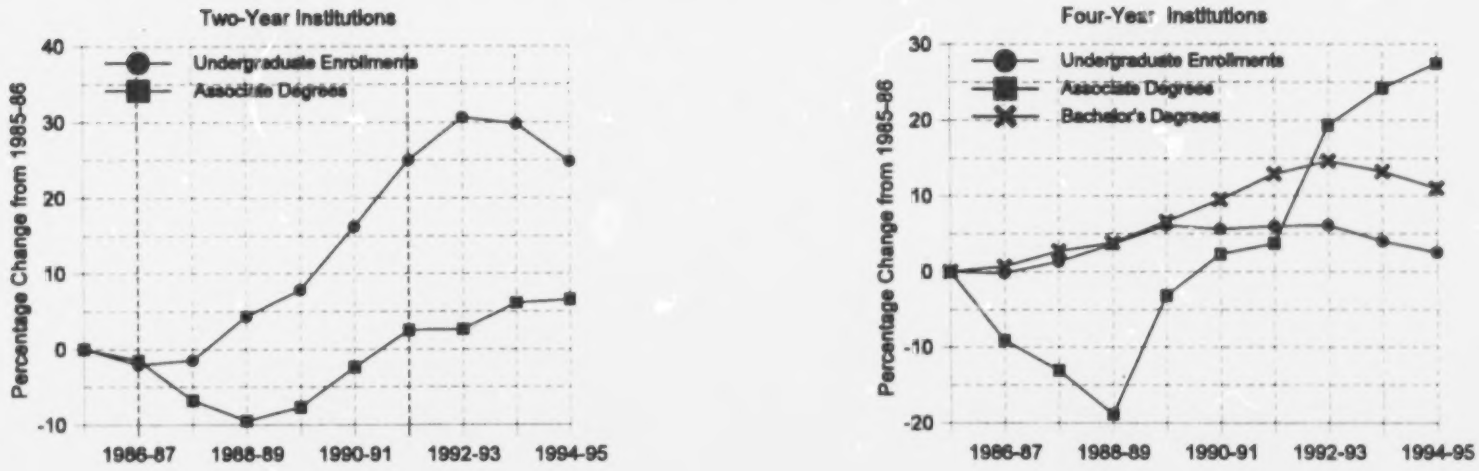
PERCENTAGE CHANGE OF UNDERGRADUATE ENROLLMENTS AND DEGREES CONFERRED
BY TYPE OF INSTITUTION
1985-86 THROUGH 1994-95



Undergraduate enrollments at two-year institutions decreased in 1986-87, then increased each year for the next six years. Between 1992-93 and 1994-95, undergraduate enrollments at these institutions dropped from 124,782 to 119,237. Associate degrees increased 17.7% between 1988-89 and 1994-95, reaching 11,096 in 1994-95.

The growth of undergraduate enrollments at four-year institutions between 1986-87 and 1989-90 was reflected in the steady climb of bachelor's degrees between 1988-89 and 1992-93. However, growth in undergraduate enrollments came to a halt in 1989-90, resulting in a decline of bachelor's degrees in 1993-94 and 1994-95.

The number of associate degrees at four-year institutions changed dramatically over the past decade. A decrease of 18.9% occurred between 1985-86 and 1988-89. Over the next six years, graduates at this level increased each year, with significant jumps in 1989-90 and 1992-93. Increases in associate degrees at four-year institutions since 1985-86 were: state universities, 5.9%; state-related commonwealth universities, 47.7%; and private colleges and universities, 17.0%. Associate degrees at private state-aided institutions decreased 23.8% during this period.

PERCENTAGE CHANGE OF POSTBACCALAUREATE ENROLLMENTS AND DEGREES CONFERRED BY LEVEL OF PROGRAM

Enrollments in first-professional programs dropped 3.6% in 1986-87, then fluctuated for the next four years. During this same period, the number of first-professional degrees decreased steadily. However, between 1990-91 and 1994-95, these trends changed significantly, with enrollments increasing 13.5% and degrees increasing 16.4%.

Graduate enrollments increased 37.0% over the past decade, while the number of degrees at the master's and doctor's levels increased 47.2% and 33.0%, respectively. Between 1985-86 and 1990-91, master's and doctor's degrees increased at about the same rate. However, in 1991-92, the number of master's degrees began climbing at a higher rate than doctor's degrees.
